

HOMEWARD.

Dropping down the troubled river,
To the tranquil, tranquil shore;
Dropping down the misty river—
Time's willow-shaded river—
To the spring-embosomed shore:
Where the sweet light shineth ever,
And the sun goes down no more—
O wondrous, wondrous shore!

Dropping down the winding river,
To the wide and welcome sea;
Dropping down the narrow river—
Men's weary, wayward river—
To the blue and ample sea:
Where no tempest searcheth ever,
Where the sky is fair and free—
O, joyous, joyous sea!

Dropping down the noisy river,
To our peaceful, peaceful home;
Dropping down the turbid river—
To our gentle, gentle home
Where the rough roar riseth never,
And the vexings cannot come,
O! loved and longed for home!

Dropping down the eddying river,
With a Helmsman true and tried:
Dropping down the perilous river—
Mortality's dark river—
With a sure and heavenly Guide:
Even Him who, to deliver
My soul from death, hath died,
O! Helmsman true and tried!

Dropping down the rapid river
To the dear and deathless land;
Dropping down the well-known river—
Life's swifter, and rushing river—
To the resurrection-land
Where the living live for ever,
And the dead have joined the band,—
O! fair and blessed land!
